Deliver Superior Customer Service at Lower Costs with SAP Contact Center Solution

➔ SAP enables efficient, consistent and superior delivery of customer service at lower costs.

Improve customer satisfaction

- Leverage expertise in the back-office and in the field to route customer contacts immediately to the best available people
- Provide consistency and quality across multiple contact channels

Real-time view and control over operations

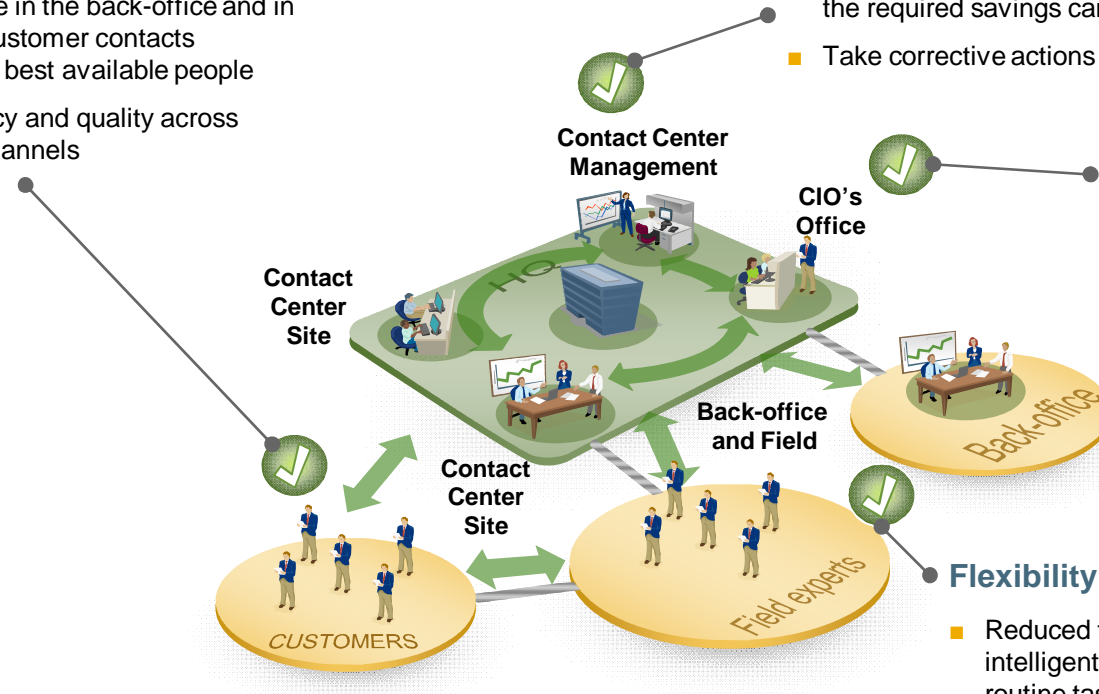

- Know exactly what needs to be improved and where the required savings can be found
- Take corrective actions with immediate effect

Cost effective and simplified architecture

- Monetize existing investments with end-to-end integration
- Scale up and down in single user increments
- Short time-to-value with rapid deployment

Flexibility in resource utilization

- Reduced time spent on each interaction with intelligent routing to experts and automation of routine tasks
- Flexibly increase or decrease capacity for customer interactions without increasing headcount by leveraging idle resources in the back-office

5. Wrap Up SAP Contact Center Solution

- Decreased average call handling time by ~20 seconds per call
- With about 17 million incoming calls on annual basis, achieved ~10% savings in contact center operating costs

- Saved over 60% on customer service labor costs by leveraging the existing back-office resources from remote locations
- Increased response rate from 50% to 94%

SAP leads by providing high-volume, global deployment capabilities. SAP can offer an end-to-end contact center solution and support communication-enabled business processes with SAP CRM as the hub of customer interactions and with SAP's Business Communication Management.

SAP CRM's strength lies in its ability to tie customer service to other back-office processes, including manufacturing, distribution, finance, and marketing. The product is designed to handle high-volume global requirements. ”
